New Commemorative Book

Higham Town Council and Higham Ferrers Tourism, Business and Community Partnership have achieved Heritage Lottery Funding to restore the Town's Charters for everyone to see and enjoy.

Higham Ferrers 1251–1914 A portrait of a town and its people through its historic charters has been produced by Brenda Lofthouse, Gwen Tobin and Rachel Smyth to commemorate this important event. The book launch will coincide with the Town Council's Medieval Day on Saturday 29 June 2019 to celebrate the conservation of the Town Charters.

Visit www.highamferrerstourism.org.uk to find out more about this beautifully illustrated book describing how Higham Ferrers developed from a small village in Norman England to the fully-fledged town of today.
