

POOR LAW UNION WORKHOUSES

By the early 1830s the existing poor relief system was unable to cope and the New Poor Law Act came into effect in 1834. Northamptonshire was divided up into 12 poor law unions: Brackley, Brixworth, Daventry, Hardingstone, Kettering, Northampton, Oundle, Peterborough, Potterspury, Thrapston, Towcester and Wellingborough. Some of these include cross-border parishes.

The information below gives an overview of the different types of records that are available. At the end you will find a list of records held at Northamptonshire Archives for each Poor Law Union.

Admission procedure

You could admit yourself, or be referred by the parish or Relieving Officer. You would be interviewed, be given a bath and be issued with a workhouse uniform. Your own clothes would be washed and returned when you left. Details would be entered in the Admission and Discharge register and often in the Master's journal. These admission examples are from Northampton Union.

Goodman Ann aged 16 years. single, shoemaker, venereal, destitute, Born at Winslow, been in Northampton five years. Adm: 19 Sept 1877

Izzard – Sarah aged 27 years, independent, charwoman, Married and destitute, and 2 children Anne 4, Maria 2, husband in prison, he is a native of Weedon.

Vagrants were housed in 'casual wards' and there are separate registers for these admissions.

Discharge

You could leave at own request. If you came in as a family, you left as a family. You could ask for short term absence ie to visit family members and able-bodied men were allowed out to find work. Some people treated the workhouses as free lodging, coming and going as the mood or the weather took them! You can follow their trail in the registers.

Northampton Union examples:

Potter Frederick aged 13 years. To the service of Mr Simco, Mears Ashby. Discharged 4 August 1888

Mallard 1879 – Alice 8, Edith 6, Emma 4, From the school to meet their father who is to be discharged from prison this morning.

Medical Officer

He attended to the poor needing medical assistance and provided medicines. He examined the inmates on admission and reported to the Guardians – as below!

Discharged 5 November 1877 Bates Richard age 61 years, Emma aged 13, George 11 and Agnes 6.

At his own request. They were re- admitted six days later where Richard is described as a labourer, widower and destitute, born at Grendon, been in Northampton 5 years.

Work

Those capable were expected to work – men in the workhouse gardens and the women with domestic duties. Casual inmates had to perform some tasks towards their upkeep, - often breaking stones or unpicking oakum.

Workhouse Staff

Master and Matron They were responsible for the running and administration of the workhouse. The Master's Register often contains notes about those admitted and it supplements the Admission register.

Relieving Officer He evaluated the cases of all persons applying for medical or poor relief and authorised emergency relief (both indoor or outdoor). He supplied the weekly allowance of the paupers within his district.

Porter He kept a register of those entering, particularly the casual vagrants. He also had to lock all the outer doors, and take the keys to the Master, at 9pm every night, and to receive them back from him every morning at 6am. The Porter's Admission register may survive.

Board of Guardians An elected body which included representatives from the parishes. They oversaw all administration, discussed relief, received reports and made decisions on putting out older children as apprentices. The Guardian Minute Books are a treasure trove of information.

Out Relief

Not everyone in need was admitted, those suffering from temporary illness or hardship were allowed out relief, sometimes cash but more usually in the food of bread or other goods. The Registers give information about claimants, why they needed relief and for how long payments were made.

Births in the workhouse

These were registered and also recorded in the Workhouse's own register of births. In 1904, to reduce stigma, the birth registration did not state workhouse but gave an address such as 1 Glaphorn Road for Oundle, or The White House for Potterpurty.

Deaths in the workhouse

These were registered with the local registrar and should also be found in the Admission and Discharge books. Relatives could collect the body and arrange burial in the deceased home parish, if not, burial was arranged by the Guardians. Many of the birth and death registers have been transcribed. You may find notes like the following: The widow of the Thomas Lea a lunatic who died in the Asylum applied for a box containing his wearing apparel. Ann Pratt begs to be allowed the clothes of her father, James Clarke deceased. Allowed.

Contributions towards upkeep

In order to keep the poor rate low, family members would be asked to contribute towards the upkeep of parents in the workhouse Details can be found in Guardians minute books and in the local newspapers

Apprenticeships

Children were educated so they could support themselves. The workhouse was also seen as a source of labour from those needing servants or apprentices, and not just from local families, but from further afield as the following examples show.

Peterborough

24 April 1869: Cornelius Wootton, a poor boy aged 16, apprentice for 5 years to Henry Edwards of Grimsby, owner of the smack 'Henry'.

28 April 1869 Samuel Toombs, aged 13, apprentice, ditto and George Baxter, aged 14, to Henry Edwards, owner of smack 'Mary'.

Other Records

Creed Registers: From 1869, an inmate's religion was recorded on admission and these are useful where other admission records do not survive

Newspapers:

They reported on the Guardians meeting so include discussions which are not always minuted. You will also find job adverts and requests for tenders for the supply of grocery, uniform and other necessities.

Where to find Workhouse records.

Northamptonshire Record Office holds surviving records and there is good coverage for most Unions except Potterspurty. Some of the births/deaths registers have been transcribed.

The National Archives has some records, especially for correspondence from the Poor Law Commissioners.
